Education and Interpretation
Duration: May – August (dates and times are flexible)
Hourly Rate: $12/hr
Application Deadline: May 1

The education internship works with the LUAG staff to plan, design, and implement education programs and resources for the campus and community. Interns will have the opportunity to interact with diverse audiences, assist with exhibition-related/curriculum-based art projects for various age groups, collaborate with visiting artists, and more. Interns assist with administrative tasks, help staff to implement a range of programs on weekdays, weekends, and evenings, and create content for virtual programs. Depending on interns’ interests, they may also research and present a gallery talk or other public program. Interns should be friendly, energetic, highly motivated, and creative; and have a positive, enthusiastic attitude towards interacting with learners of all ages.

Interns will perform a combination of research, writing, and administrative duties which may include researching art objects and artists within the LUAG’s permanent collection, assisting with and developing resources for LUAG website and exhibition pages, assisting with planning community engagement events or activities, either in-person or digitally/virtually, and assisting with special projects, research, audience analysis, and other projects as needed.
