

Internships and training opportunities in art history and museum studies for current students, graduating seniors and recent alumni

This is a selective list of internships and training opportunities suitable for current undergraduate art history students, graduating seniors and recent alumni, in the Pennsylvania, New Jersey, and New York general area. There are numerous other programs to which you might consider applying besides the ones named below, and most museums, galleries and non-profit art organizations that offer internships list relevant information on their websites. Please note that undergraduate interns generally do not receive course credit or compensation for interning, although there are exceptions to this. If a particular internship requires you to earn academic credit in order to participate, you must receive permission for this from your major advisor in advance of applying. Consent from your advisor is also required for applications requiring a faculty letter of recommendation.
