

We advance critical thinking, cultural understanding, and well-being for campus and community through transformative experiences with art.

– LUAG Mission

Message from the Director

Annual reports are typically filled with numbers, charts, and data that hope to express an organization's progress and impact. Of course one will find all of those components here—attendance figures, the increased size of the collection, and lists of exhibitions and programs—all of which reveal substantial growth and the hard work of our dedicated team.

While these “outputs” can be helpful to understand activity and reach, they cannot tell the whole story. Behind these numbers and data we begin to see relationships and long-term impact that can only be developed through deep, sustained work. Authentic partnerships with schools and community organizations take time, deep listening, and trust. Student-led exhibitions and programs require mentorship, guidance, and to some extent, comfort with risk. Even a single visit to LUAG that a faculty member initiates with their class requires communication and commitment to shared goals.

As you explore the numbers, lists, and charts, we hope that it piques your interest to dive deeper and learn more about what it takes to develop these relationships and how our stakeholders benefit. We are proud of our progress. But we humbly recognize that we always have more work to do, and we can only do it together with the communities that we serve. We hope that you see this report as an invitation to learn more and to get involved with LUAG.

With appreciation,

William B. Crow, Ph.D.
 Director, Lehigh University Art Galleries
 Professor of Practice, Department of Art, Architecture and Design

5-YEAR OVERVIEW

Impact

Through responses from 150 participants in a post-program survey, the results show that LUAG is successful in meeting our mission to provide creative experiences for individuals of all ages and abilities that support critical thinking, cultural understanding and well-being for individuals and communities.

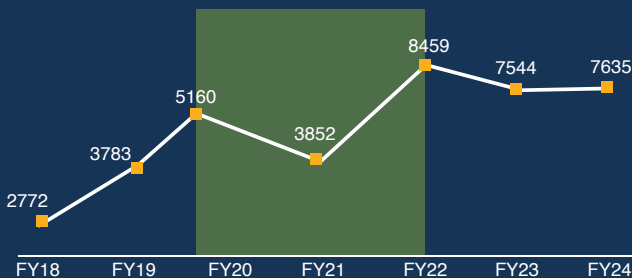

Participating in a LUAG program or event:

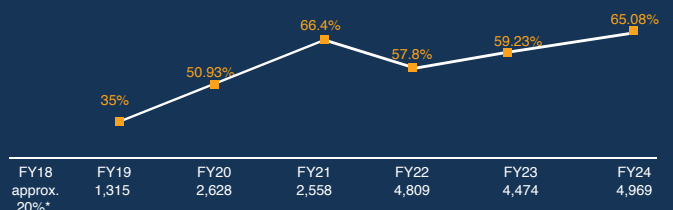

“[Was an] experience that stayed with me and the group of students I brought there for continued conversations through the rest of the semester.”

“I was able to take away a more artistic way of seeing the world around me, and... share that with my students.”
